

AQUATHERM WARMING MATTRESS / HOT COT

The Croyde Aquatherm Warming Mattress & Hot Cot is designed to provide warmth and comfort to neonatal patients.

The Aquatherm warming mattress provides heat and warmth to regulate a neonatal patient's temperature. It uses a fire retardant foam/rubber and 'Aquagel' technology to deliver a non-water based warming system.

Aquagel technology ensures that residual heat is retained for longer. When disconnected, the Aquagel technology retains residual heat to create a stable warming environment during transport.

CONFIGURATION OPTIONS

The Croyde Aquatherm system is portable, lightweight, and easily positioned on flat surfaces, inside incubators or in cots. Whilst it can be used in any cot, it fits perfectly within the Croyde Height Adjustable Cot range to eliminate unwanted gaps and create a safe "hot cot" solution.

When used with Croyde Height Adjustable Cots, the control unit mounts on the inside of the cot, allowing unrestricted access for caregivers and avoids accidental collisions. It can then be swivelled outward for usage as required.

CONTROL UNIT

The intuitive control unit has user-friendly settings to regulate the heat output of the mattress and also contains an alarm system for enhanced patient safety.

A bracket can also be provided to allow for the control unit to be mounted to any cot.

NEONATAL NURSE WELLNESS

When used with the Croyde Height Adjustable cot range, the mattress can be adjusted to the perfect working height for the caregiver, to minimise musculoskeletal stress and strain.

The control unit is discreetly positioned to avoid collision with carers' knees, and the connecting cables are routed through the base of the crib to de-clutter the area around the top of the cradle.
